MAINE CHURCHES TOPIC AT HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING THURSDAY, JULY 6

Dr. Robert M. York of Gorham was the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held at the Bethel Church last Thursday evening. Dr. York, a native of Wilton and a graduate of Bates College, holds a Ph. D. from Clark University and the position of State Historian, having lectured and written widely on Maine history. He has been associated with the University of Southern Maine the past sixteen years.

York spoke of the origins of the church in Maine, emphasizing the fact that the Congregational Church was the dominant one in the state for much of its early history. The Baptists and Methodists began to gain ground at the end of the 18th century with other denominations attracting adherents as the 19th century advanced. By far the largest denomination in the state today is the Roman Catholic. The Irish who came to Maine in the middle of the 19th century brought their religion with them, but it was not until the large French-Canadian immigration after the Civil War that Roman Catholicism achieved the numbers that distinguish it today. York pointed to the lesser denominations such as the Shakers who have made unique contributions to Maine life. The new evangelical religions, he added, have given new life to Maine churches.

A picnic preceded the meeting on the church grounds.

USE OF ARTIST'S BRIDGE AREA JEOPARDIZED BY LACK OF COMMON SENSE

The recent spell of hot weather has brought increased popularity to one of the area's most delightful and scenic spots, Artist's Covered Bridge over the Sunday River in Newry. Local residents and visitors alike find refreshments in the cool clear waters and rest on the warm granite boulders and sand beaches that line the shores.

Nearly everyone who visits "the bridge" to swim, picnic, walk, nap, paint, or sit quietly by the beautiful river is thankful that such a unique spot exists on earth and especially that it is in our own back yard. Fewer people realize that public use of the shores of the river is made possible through the extreme generosity of the private land owners who own and pay taxes on these precious shorelines.

Lately residents of the Sunday River Valley have become increasingly concerned over events which jeopardize the free public use of the area. Overnight camping, strictly forbidden by the landowners in the interest of preservation of the site, and littering of the land and waters have been on the increase. With no police force, life-guard staff, or beach attendants to enforce common sense and common courtesy, the folks of Sunday River call upon everyone who comes to share all that the bridge offers to take a real interest in its appearance and preservation.

More than that, it is essential that all area residents take the responsibility of reminding visitors that here in the country everyone must pick up after himself. We must remember for ourselves that to preserve the safety and beauty of places like the bridge we need to follow the advice of the Appalachian Mountain Club and "take only pictures, leave only footprints."

Clarice Gibson, Corres.

After the heat of the last few days even a thundershower was a welcome relief. Today I have reached the half century mark. When I was a girl in East Stoneham they used to have a church group that met once a week at different houses to sew, knit, crochet or whatever for the church. One day a woman was there, who was telling how she had just turned 50, and said that she spent most of the day crying. I have been crying this morning but not because of my age but because I have reached the age where they are tears of happiness. My boys were all with us yesterday but Wilfred and he wanted to talk with his mother. Frank's mother, Thirza Gibson, his sister, Bobby, and her husband, Eddie, were here Saturday night from Hampton Falls, N. H. How wonderful is a talk with a friend or even just a smile! Each new day will bring us joys and, yes, sorrows; but just to take each day in stride.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapman and boys entertained at a family cook out at her grandmother's, Mrs. Ada Balentine's camp, on North Pond. This included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman, Alan, Sammy, Tony, Mary, and Kathie from Jacksonville, Fla. This was the Sunday before the Fourth.

The Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman took their daughter, Kathie, to the Portland Jetport to catch a plane back to Jacksonville. The Fourth Ira was home from work and we invited Pat and Everett Saunders, Robert and Richard, down for cake and ice cream to celebrate Ira's birthday which was the third.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason, Jr., Carole and Melinda, Peggy James, Sheri Angevine and Terry Blake went to a horse show in Dixfield, Sunday. Melinda got two firsts and a second. Carole got two firsts and two seconds. They also got an honorable mention for costume class.

Debby, Ricky Seames and children, Dawn and Ryan, also Jody Shimamura, visited after church and went to the show. Also Chuckie Kathie, Jennifer, and little Chuck went.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stearns joined the families later.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Butters went to a Butters family reunion in Fryeburg Harbor, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden MacDougall and family entertained for supper Monday, his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick MacDougall, from Florida, who are visiting relatives in this area.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

It started with the old worn grindstone one day when my husband said, "I must grind my scythe today and do some hand mowing." I remember when such a grindstone with rusty iron crank was whirled by my brothers and even I had a turn at the same.

All who have mowed with a scythe and snath know now the mower is fussy about getting a razor-sharp edge.

There was a time when the lush meadows were cut by men in this way. Today, there are few who know how. But my husband still uses one for clipping around rocks, along brooks, walls, fences, gardens and here at home. It is a real art requiring natural skill in addition to training and practice.

Today, whirling gears furnish power for mowing machines. So the machines have been at work and the monotone song of the tractor with its various types of machines have been busy while their echoes float across the meadows or down from the upper fields.

One afternoon I went up the Bulldozer Road to see them. The tedder, rake, and baler. While waiting, I sat on the old cellar wall with my camera in my hand. It wasn't long before the "swamp angels" "ee-o-lee" with its ethereal quality which sets the thrush apart from all others, came distinctly from a tree nearby. I listened and watched. Occasionally it changed position, curiously about my presence. Then it flew into thicker branches where its song seemed to harmonize with the sounds of the forest and the whispering breeze; his voice, rich and powerful. "A-olee," a vocal expression with melody so pure that one can not imitate or describe it. Over and over his voice would rise and fall, swell and die away. I enjoyed its air of classical serenity, as it sang from its leafy perch on and on.

Now I moved to where the old cellar hole is located. The wild roses were in full bloom, with nearly as many petals on the ground as on the roses. These have been treasured by country folk for generations. They were flowering, out of the shadows, faces upward, a struggling briary hedge amidst a tangle of underbrush. Beyond was the clover and neat grass and then the ragged hay.

Here and there along the wall grew the milkweed, never a favorite flower to the farmer. There are too many of them and they send their seeds far and wide. But summer is a season of milkweed. Their beautiful purple-red, flat topped buds and creamy-white blossoms tinged with pink grow along roadsides, fences and walls.

JULY BIRTHDAYS celebrated in Maine by Miss Medea Poole of Escondido, Calif. on July 2, age four, and cousins, Miss Tracy Emerson, Rochester, N. H., age 12, on July 3, and her half sister,

Their weaving of silk within a pod of protection is a mystery. Nature's shuttle and loom works to maturity. Then inside this savage seamed pod, which splits open toward fall, is found tightly wrapped lustrous skeins of white silk with overlapped seeds. Each seed has its own parachute which floats away. A wonder of nature but a pest to the farmer.

Barn swallows swooped and wheeled over the fields while the catbird scolded from a hedge around the wall. He is a busy body and consumed with curiosity but I'm very fond of him because he talks to me.

Across the road and beyond the buildings, the cows gathered beneath the trees to wait for the sun to lower before grazing again. Occasionally I moved from place to place. The machines pattered on.

A plump, philosophical toad looked from beneath a sod resting in the shade to wait for the cool of evening.

As I looked out over the heat-blanketed fields I recalled the phrase, "the good old summer time." In spite of the heat there was peaceful solitude and beauty as an intangible reward.

And then the evening, after the hot sun, when we sat on the lawn and watched the day turn into night. The thrushes and robins caroled their evening song, the muskrat swam off shore, ducks quacked their contentment, fireflies dotted the lawn with red gleam, and a bull frog croaked his loudest. The molten golden ball in the blue sky left a spirit of tranquility over the land. Another day had closed.

"The old farm now isn't quite as gay, but still it's as lovely as yesterday. Just as proud it stands and will always be the dearest old farm in the world to me."

ANDOVER COUPLE OBSERVES GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mills Sr., Andover, observed their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at the Christian Education Building of the First Congrega-tional Church in Andover on Sun-day, July 2. The special celebra-tion was arranged by their daughter, Mrs. Sally Wilson of Salem, N. H., and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mills, Jr., Andover. More than 150 relatives and friends joined the honored couple.

The Christian Education Build-ing had been decorated with white wedding bells, streamers, and touches of white and gold by Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Mills, and Mrs. Frances Kerschner. Mrs. Louise Miller had made the anniversary cake, and the first slice was cut by the guests of honor during the recep-tion. Mr. and Mrs. Mills received many cards and a treasure chest of money during the after-noon.

Harriet Louise Akers was mar-ried to Roger Mills of Andover at a ceremony at the bride's home in Portland on June 27, 1928. Rev. Judson P. Marvin was the min-ister, and the attendants were: Miss Marjorie Akers, the bride's sister, maid of honor; Merton Fox, best man; Miss Virginia Moxey, the flower girl; and Stanley Fox, the ring bearer. Merton Fox, Andover, and Stanley Fox, Bethel, attended the golden wedding anniversary party on July 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills have been Andover residents throughout the years of their marriage and are active in local activities. Mrs. Mills is a member of the Friday Club and the Ladies Aid, and Mr. and Mrs. Mills serve as trustees of the Andover Public Library. In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Mills are members of the First Congrega-tional Church, the Andover His-torical Society, and the Pineclad Ski Club.

Now retired, Mr. Mills had been associated with his father, I. E. Mills, in the family store in And-over, drove the school bus and, for many years, the "Stage" which brought mail to Andover and served as transportation for those wishing to take the train from Rumford.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills have eleven great-grandchildren. Grandchil-dren are: Karen (Mills) Davis, Rochester, N. H.; Margaret (Mills) Richardson, Bradford, Mass.; Roger Mills III, Augusta; Philip Mills, Monmouth; Michael Mills, Rum-ford; Les (Mills) Viennet, Car-thage; and Richard, Christopher, Brian, Melinda, and Patricia Mills, Andover. Beth has sharpened her natural athletic ability by working with this near-professional group for the last four years. Her husband, Roger, shares her interest in the world of sports as Director of Gym-nastics and General Sports Activi-ties for the town of Mystic, Conn.

Finally, upcoming in August, her team goes to Pennsylvania for the all important Softball World's Series for defending their title, and in a final frenetic burst of ac-tion, while winter's early snow flakes begin to swirl around Beth-el's streets, Beth and her team-mates will be off to El Salvador to swing a powerful feminine bat un-der warm, sunny skies in the "World Tournament. Bethel may well take pride in this talented, modest, friendly Beth Ann Brown Quesnel.

"A VERY PRESENT HELP"
ON WGAN-TV JULY 16

Drug addiction, divorce, death in the family...these problems aren't new or news anymore. They've become all too common for many families. However, suc-cessfully dealing with the hurt, the bitterness, the helplessness, the tragedy of these problems is news, especially when the answers some people are finding come from what might be considered a rather unconventional source—the Bible, with its promise that "God is a very present help in trouble." This is the theme of a TV special called simply "A Very Present Help." It will be shown Sunday morning, July 16, at 9:30 on Channel 13.

The opening ceremonies will be held at the Brighton Elementary School auditorium from 8 to 10 p. m. Friday, July 14. The pro-gram will be a slide presentation, and commentary by J. Emmott Lancaster, past secretary, 470 Club entitled "The Grand Trunk Canadian National Railways."

Historical exhibits will be on display in Island Pond store win-dows several days before and during the celebration.

WESTERN MAINE TRANSPORTATION SERVICE AIMS AT EXPANDED SERVICE

On Thursday, July 6, Chamber of Commerce representatives Don Bennett and Sonny Blake met with the administrator and Rum-ford dispatcher of the Western Maine Transportation Service to discuss possibilities for bet-ter public transportation in the Bethel area. WMTS hopes for a fa-vorable Public Utilities Commission ruling this summer which will allow for their expansion on a free collection basis in this area.

WMTS already provides one day a week service for elderly and low income passengers from Bethel to Rumford and Norway/South Paris on alternating Tuesdays.

One point of interest learned in the meeting on July 6 is that by connecting with the daily Blue Line bus service between Rum-ford and Lewiston, WMTS pas-sengers from the Bethel area can travel to Lewiston on Tuesdays for such things as medical ap-pointments and short periods of shopping. WMTS provides shuttle transportation in Lewiston be-tween the Blue Line terminal and nearby clinics.

If the PUC determines that Western Maine Transportation can operate locally on a fare col-lection basis, it will mean that Bethel area businesses and vacation at-tractions can arrange for local charters and weekend service as well as more frequent service from Bethel to Lewiston via Rum-ford using the Blue Line and WMTS. As an additional benefit there is also the possibility that more jobs could be created on weekends for those who are al-ready qualified school bus drivers.

These additional jobs would be possible through leasing WMTS equipment for operation in the Bethel area.

As a result of the initial discus-sion with WMTS, the Chamber of Commerce plans to concentrate its attention on setting up an infor-mation circular with details on how travelers can get from the Port-land Airport to the Lewiston-Auburn Airport to Bethel and, sec-ondly, on how local area residents and businesses, such as inns, can arrange for area tours and group shopping service. Both of these projects depend on WMTS obtain-ing an expanded authority; there-fore, at the earliest, it will be fall before any comprehensive infor-mation is available.

Mrs. Florence Fifield, Rumford, was a week end guest of Mrs. Ethel Ward.

Spending this week at the fam-ily cottage at Songo Pond are Mr. and Mrs. David Keniston, Heather and Heath, West Minor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickerson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, Robbie and Chrystal, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gilbert and Amanda, at a cookout recently.

STATE OF MAINE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
 Karen L. Brown

I attended a Republican caucus which was held in Augusta Mon-day to discuss the Maine tax limitation proposal. The consensus of the caucus was to support the Governor in calling a special ses-sion to place a proposed amend-ment to the Constitution to limit the amount of revenues which may be raised by taxes on the November referendum.

Constitutional spending amend-ment can only be voted on in a referendum in regular or general elections.

If we fail to get this amendment on the November ballot, it will be 1980 before it can be voted on again.

TO THE EDITOR,
 Why Mr. Wight, a didn't know that the shoe fitted. What a sur-prise! Sorry I disturbed you.

The girls like working here but do not like housework. They are just filling in between jobs. They are welcome to come in and visit anytime, have tea, coffee, Coke, or lunch, but not during working hours, sit and smoke, and get paid for it. I had one dependable honest, cheerful, experienced worker for eight years, another one for six years. We were good friends; would take off every once in a while for a good time, shop-ping and eating out.

My gripe is the wage they de-manded today, and their work or experience is not that good. Money comes first for them. Do you pay $3.00 or $3.50 an hour? I doubt it. I know of one young man who worked in the kitchen at the Inn last year and got $2.75 per hour. Another one who got $2.50 per hour for roofing and another experienced woman got $3.00 or $3.50 an hour for housework.

If you want to pity poor G. M. go ahead. I don't. Poor G. M. is just going to do my own work and like it until the right person comes along. Hopefully she will like to drive the car.

Sincerely,
 G. M.

YOUTH CONSERVATION CORPS AT WORK IN WHITE MT. NATIONAL FOREST

Have you been aware of the 50 new faces in the Bethel area? They are easy to identify with their bright yellow safety helmets, untanned bodies, and enthusiasm for making the White Mountain National Forest a better place for all. They are all members of the Youth Conservation Corps (YCC).

The YCC has two major objectives: 1) to develop further and maintain the Nation's natural resources by the youth, upon whom will fall the ultimate responsibility for management and protection of these resources; 2) Provide youth with gainful employment in the summer months that will create opportunities for understanding and appreciation of the Nation's natural environment.

A 40 hour workweek consists of 30 hours of actual labor intermingled with 10 hours of environmental education. The work day entails projects including erosion control, trail clearing, camp site maintenance, cemetery rehabilitation, wildlife projects, and a multitude of other beneficial labors.

The Sunday River Inn has become the home for these campers who hail from Fort Kent to Tenants Harbor, from Calais to South Berwick. It is here at the Inn that various evening activities take place. These activities include hiking, swimming, softball, canoeing, etc. Two evenings per week are set aside for guest lecturers, films, and demonstrations that pertain to the environment.

The program is sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture through the Forest Service.

Ads and Disclosure Rule

The truth-telling law became effective July 1, 1969. It's also known as the disclosure rule. It requires lenders to give customers a plain statement of the credit charges involved in any transaction.

One area where it has helped to clear possible misunderstandings is in real estate ads. Remember when ads used to read like this: "FOR SALE - 3 bedroom home in fine location, only $22,000 with $3,000 down."

Now, if the advertiser mentions the down payment, he must also mention the monthly payment and the interest rate. Tell all or tell nothing! You may advertise the selling price, or terms like "low down payment" or "easy terms." But when it comes to the big three — down payment, interest rate or monthly payment—if you mention one you have to tell all three.

The obvious reason is so buyers can't be misled by an ad that offers $2,000 down payment—and then finding out that the monthly payments are extremely high.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at EARLY REAL ESTATE, 60 Main St., Bethel. Phone: 824-2122, 824-2579. We're here to help!
